

This is outrageous. Just because XM has actually made a successful attempt (unlike other media suppliers) to help their listeners with different services, they should not get in trouble. Why don't you (FCC) actually listen to the American public, instead of the few people that give you campaign money? Stop wasting the taxpayers money with stupid issues and actually do some work for once that benefits America; after all, that is who you are actually supposed to be working for.